Social Enterprises in Ireland: how many are there?

As with anything, the more evidence you have, the more it can be measured and understood. It's much easier to place a value on something when you know its size and scale. That is why the Baseline Social Enterprise Research Project that is underway is so important.

Tendered by the Department of Rural and Community Development (DRCD), the consortium is made up of Amarach research, Social Enterprise Republic of Ireland (SERI) and Irish Local Development Network (ILDN). This is the first national census of social enterprises to take place in Ireland. Speaking about the project, Lorraine Corcoran, SERI Director and part of the project team, notes that "this is a key project, not only for the much needed data that will be produced, but it is also an opportunity for the Social Enterprise sector to come together, collaborate and gather evidence."

The project team have commenced the survey and will produce a detailed report on the findings for the DRCD. The survey is being sent out to all Social Enterprises by email this September and is designed to only take approximately twenty minutes.

All Social Enterprises are kindly requested to fill it out so that Government can make policy and allot the relevant resources to a sector that is doing so much for society, the economy, and the environment.

Parent, based interventions via specialist short, evidence based programmes such as the Non-Violent Resistance and S.P.A.C.E. (Supportive Parenting for Anxious Childhood Emotions).

7 STEPS TO HELP WITH Anxiety

1. Practice Deep Breathing

- Breathe in through your nose for 5 counts
- Breathe out through your nose for 5 counts
- Continue to inhale & exhale deeply for 5 minutes

2. Focus On Your Senses

5 things you can SEE

4 things you can FEEL

3 things you can HEAR

2 things you can SMELL

1 thing you can TASTE

3. Exercise Regularly

Aim for thirty minutes of moderate activity each day to release built-up energy
This can include... walking, biking, swimming, dancing etc.

4. Identify Your Warning Signs

Many people feel physical symptoms to anxiety. Learning to recognise these signs early on can help you manage your anxiety better.

5. Find Something Engaging

Redirect your attention to something you enjoy so your mind can move away from anxious thoughts.
Try activities like... reading, watching a movie, journaling, writing or listening to music etc.

6. Find The Funny Side

Humour is a great way to break up tension and realign your mood. Finding something funny to focus on may help you to take your mind off stressful thoughts.

7. Prioritise Sleep

The quality and quantity of your sleep affect everything in your life. Make sure you're getting plenty of replenishing rest each night.
